These objects should be accompanied by short explanatory notes. Each specimen in the collection will have appended the name of the medical officer by whom it was prepared.

Note.—Medical directors will furnish one copy of this circular to every medical officer in the department in which they are servine; and they will breakfer forward to this office with their consolidated monthly reports, all the monthly reports of the medical officers under their supervision. They will also immediately transmit all back monthly reports, all the monthly reports of the medical officers under their supervision. They will also immediately transmit all back monthly reports, and papers of every kind relating to the above subjects of medicine and surgery, which may have accumulated in their respective offices since the commencement of the rebellion.

SURGION CENERAL S OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., July 14, 1862.
Circular No. 7.
In order to give greater utility to the acts of Miss D. L. Dix as "Superintendent of Women Nurses" in general hospitals, and to make the employment of such nurses conform more closely to existing laws and erders of the War Department, the following aunouncement is made for the information and guidance of medical officers and of all concerned:

Miss Dix has been entrusted by the War Department with the duty of selecting women nurses and assigning them to general or permanent military hospitals. Wemen nurses are not to be employed in such hospitals without her sanction and approval, except in cases of urgent need.

may be discharged by him it incompetent, insubordinate, or otherwise unit for their vocation.

Miss Dix is charged with the ditgent over sight of women nurses, and with the duty of sacertaining by personal inspection whether or not they are properly performing their duties. Medical officers are enjoined to receive her suggestions and counsels with respect, and to carry them into effectif compatible with the hospital service.

As it will be impossible for Miss Dix to supervise in person all the military hospitals, she is authorized to delegate her authority, as herein defined, to subordinate agents, not to exceed one for each city or military district. Women wishing employment as nurses must apply to Miss Dix, or to her authorized agents. The army regulations allow one nurse to every ten patients (beds) in a general hospital. As it is the expressed will of the Government that a portion of those nurses shall be women and as Congress has given to the Surgeon General authority to decide in what numbers women shall be substituted for men, it is ordered that there shall be one woman nurse to two men quiries. Medical officers are hereby required to organize their respective hospitals accordingly.

Medical officers requiring women curses will apply to Miss Dix, or to her authorized agent, for the place where their hospitals are located.

WM. A. HAMMOND, Surgeon General.

WAR DEPARTMENT, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFIC WAR DEFARMENT.

ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE.

Washington, July 14, 1867.

General Orders, No. 78.

1. The many evils which srise from giving furloughs to enlisted men, require that the practice shall be discontinued. Hospitals, provided with ample medical attendance, nurses, food, and clothing, are established by the Government, at great expense, not only near the scenes of active military operations, but in many of the Northern States. When it is expedient and advisable, sick and wounded patients may under the direction of the Surgeon General, be transferred in parties, but not in individual cases, to hospitals at the North; and, as far as practicable, the men will be sent to States in which their regiments were raised, provided United States hespitals have been extablished there. Such regulations will be adopted and friends to visit the patients, and furnish them with comforts, at such hours and in such manner as will not interfere with the discipline of the hospitals and the welfare of the mass of patients. The men will thus be under the festering care of the Government while until for duty; will be in position to be promptly discharged if proper, and, being always under military contrel, will be returned to their regiments as soon as they are able to resume their duties. The unauthorized removal of soldiers from under the control of the United States authorities, by any agents whatever, subjects them to loss of pay and other penalties of desertion.

11. At large camps, depots, or posts, where thorities, by any agents whatever, subjects them to loss of pay and other penalties of desertion.

II. At large camps, depots, or posts, where absentees arrive on rouse to their companies, the commanding officers will immediately set apart a particular place where the men may be quartered, in buildings, tents, or huts, as soon as they arrive, and may, without delay, receive food and clothing. Parties will be detailed to await at landing places the arrival of such soldiers, and to direct them to their quarters. They will be assigned immediately to temporary companies, composed as far as possible of men from the same regiments or brigades; and each of these companies will be forwarded in a body to the command to which they belong according to the directions contained in paragraph 1 of "General Orders," No. 72.

III. Chapiains appointed by the President for heapitals, will be assigned by the Surgeon General to hospitals in the cities for which they were appointed. Should the breaking up of a heapital leave a chapiain supernumerary in any city, the fact will be immediately resperted to the Adjutant General. Chaplains will be subordinate to the hespital surgeons. Leaves of absence will be granted them by the Surgeon General, when approved by the surgeons in charge of their hospitals.

By order of the Sorotary of War:
